Writing changes perspectives

12-second speech

Aiming to highlight the art of passion in youth and families.

Grounded in faith and the spirit of service, the mission is to develop a ministry of families free in spirit, passionate in purpose, and aware of opportunities to grow.

30-second speech

The Writer Quai offers both family and professional services to individuals and families seeking guidance in developing their personal and professional passions. All youth centered services use writing, research, music and film to develop the art of creative passion in children & families.

Services are designed to stimulate and enhance socioemotional development for clients of all ages, allows for adults and growing youth to explore the inner child that grows within their passions, and encourages resilient outcomes while providing support.

Using studio centers to deliver professional and family services, build individual portfolios, and produce self-published books, films, and artwork.

3-minute speech

I am the CEO & Founder of The Writer Quai, LLC and I am a Bachelor of Science in Human Development and Family Studies. While I concentrated on Child Development and Family Studies, I also minored in Psychology & African American Studies. Along this journey I decided to connect my heart of service with my spirit of faith and discovered The Writer Quai.

The Writer Quai services aim to reach the minority populations of youth and families whose stories and trajectories are often unheard or ignored by systemic oppression. Family and professional service objectives are to turn trajectories into triumphs through social and emotional engagement with individual passion. Documenting the process of transformation through every step.

The Writer Quai, LLC uses 4 different developmental studio centers for interactive sessions with clients. The Writing and Film Center is the space where Mock Interviewing, recording, passive thinking, creating & developing ideas happen; The Reading & Research Center is used for Consultations, Resume Building and serves as a place to build knowledge through active thinking and engagement; The Arts & Crafts center is a space to engage with the creative imagination and artistic expressions of passion; The Music & Dance Center is a space to meditate & connect with passion for inspiration from the soul. The Writer Quai hopes to lead children and families to a free spirit through every service.
